TODAY AT CARDOZO

Tuesday, January 21, 2020

Hello, Students!

Welcome back! We hope that everyone had a wonderful break. We would like to take this time to remind you of the process for submitting requests for the Today at Cardozo email.

To have your club's event advertised, please send announcements in plain text format (no jpegs) to Special Events Coordinator, Emma Corcoran.

Please send all requests no later than two days prior to the date you would like it posted. When sending your request, please make sure that the following items are included in your text before the request is placed:

- Title of Event
- Date
- Location
- Sponsoring SBA group
- Contact email

Each text may be included twice in the Today at Cardozo email. Once under the "Upcoming Events" section and once under the "Today at Cardozo" section. When sending any text please specify the two dates you would like it to be included and its corresponding section.

Lastly, the announcement could only go out once a day so please be sure to review the text before sending the request.

Please don't hesitate to contact us with any questions that you may have.

Best of luck with the new semester,

Becky & Emma

Becky Odinsky
Director of Special Events

Special Events Coordinator

Impeachment Trial Screening in the 3rd Floor Lounge Today at 1 p.m.

The impeachment trial of President Donald J. Trump will begin with a debate over the rules and procedures governing the trial at 1 p.m. today.

The Floersheimer Center for Constitutional Democracy will be screening today's arguments in the Third Floor Lounge (with closed captioning), and will continue to screen the impeachment trial in the Third Floor Lounge as scheduling allows.

U.S. House Democratic impeachment managers submitted a brief on Saturday, which includes a 45-page trial memorandum and a 61-page statement of facts. The U.S. Representatives who will be serving as managers during the trial are Adam B. Schiff, Jerrold Nadler, Zoe Lofgren, Hakeem S. Jeffries, Val Butler Demings, Jason Crow, and Sylvia R. Garcia.

The legal team representing President Trump during the trial will include White House Counsel Pat Cipollone, and Trump's personal attorneys Jay Sekulow, Alan Dershowitz, and former U.S. Solicitor General Ken Starr.

Upcoming Events and Announcements

The deadline to apply for the 2020-2021 Innocence Project Clinic is MONDAY JANUARY 27 by 5:00 P.M.

The clinic is open to current 1Ls and 2Ls.

How to Apply: Please send your resume and a statement of interest no later than 5:00 P.M. on January 27 to Soreti Teshome. Your statement of interest (about 1 to 1.5 pages single spaced) should address why you are interested in the Innocence Project, your background and motivations, and what skills and experiences make you a strong candidate for the clinic.

Our students have a variety of interests, so please do not think you need any specific experience or background to apply! Interviews will begin shortly after the application deadline and will conclude in mid-February.

Note: by applying, you are acknowledging that the Innocence Project clinic requires that all accepted students make a commitment to participate in the clinic for the summer and following academic year (summer and two semesters) as a student at Cardozo Law School.

Upcoming Events and Announcements

Burns Book Talk with the authors of The Education of Brett Kavanaugh, Kate Kelly and Robin Pogrebin of the New York Times
Moderated by Professor Jessica Roth

January 23rd, 12:00 - 1:00 p.m., Third Floor Lounge

Co-sponsored by the Jacob Burns Center for Ethics in the Practice of Law and Cardozo's chapter of the American Constitution Society

In September 2018, the F.B.I. was given one week to investigate allegations of sexual misconduct against Brett Kavanaugh, President Trump's Supreme Court nominee. As Kavanaugh was sworn into his lifetime position, many questions about his conduct remain unanswered. New York Times reporters Robin Pogrebin and Kate Kelly broke critical stories about Kavanaugh's past, and their new book helps to fill in the blanks. Cardozo Professor Jessica Roth will moderate a discussion of this work, followed by a Q & A with the authors.

Lunch will be served.

We will have copies of the book available for purchase.

The Center for Public Service Law invites all students, faculty, and staff to attend Public Interest Law Advocacy Week (P*LAW).

P*Law is a weeklong event, from Monday 1/27 - Thursday 1/30, which includes daily panels and workshops featuring inspiring conversations about the practice of public interest law.

During this student-led program, the school will be abuzz with panelists, including legal practitioners and community advocates and organizers, who students have invited to address important issues such as criminal justice, prisoners' rights, immigration, educational justice, housing, voting rights, and more!
