The FAME Center and The Indie Film Clinic Present:
"One of Us" Film Screening and Panel

The documentary "One of Us" chronicles the lives of three individuals who have recently made the decision to leave the ultra-orthodox community at the expense of all else, including relationships with their family members and - in one case - their personal safety.

In a panel following the film, moderated by director of The Indie Film Clinic Michelle Greenberg-Kobrin, Bindle & Keep founder Daniel Friedman, Footsteps founder Malkie Schwartz, Footsteps client Oscar Dimant, and Cardozo Adjunct Professor of Law Sherry Jetter discuss how Footsteps helps individuals transition to secular life from ultra-orthodox communities.

Monday, November 11, 2019
Film at 5:00 p.m. (attendance is optional)

Panel at 6:30 p.m.
Cardozo School of Law - Jacob Burns Moot Court Room
Reception will follow panel
This event is co-sponsored by OUTlaw and Cardozo Students for Human Rights

The Indie Film Clinic and The FAME Center at Cardozo Law Present the Documentary:

INVISIBLE: Gay Women in Southern Music

Tuesday, November 19th

THIS IS A TEST SCREENING

This ground-breaking documentary explores the journey of a group of gay women songwriters who have carefully navigated the male-dominated & hetero-heavy landscape of country music. These women have written number 1 hits for some of country music's greatest legends including Willie Nelson, Garth Brooks, Reba McEntire, and Tim McGraw.

Following the test screening, The Indie Film Clinic Professor Michelle Greenberg-Kobrin moderates a panel with filmmaker T.J. Parsell and Dianne Davidson, one of the musicians featured in the film.

A reception will follow the panel

This event is sponsored by Cardozo OUTlaw
The Indie Film Clinic is supported by the Laurie M. Tisch Illumination Fund

International Comparative Policy & Ethics Law Review Symposium: Extraterritoriality in the United States

Wednesday, November 13, 3pm-8pm

Moot Court Room

You are invited to join Cardozo's International Comparative Policy & Ethics Law Review for a Symposium on the status of extraterritoriality and the divergent circumstantial treatment that the Courts have given extraterritoriality in the United States. More specifically, there has been a trend that Courts are usually more comfortable applying United States law extraterritorially when issues of criminal law and national security are at stake, yet usually decide in the opposite direction when faced with the extraterritorial application of US civil law or human rights obligations. The symposium will be three panels, with the first two showcasing pending litigation in SCOTUS to illustrate this point, and the third will be a scholarly discussion of this phenomenon generally, followed by a reception.

Schedule

3-3:15 - check-in

3:15-4:15 - panel 1: Extraterritoriality in Criminal and Human Rights Law (Hernandez v Mesa)

4:30-5:30 - panel 2: Extraterritoriality in Securities Law (Scoville v SEC)

5:45-6:45 - panel 3: Theory of extraterritoriality

6:45-8:30 - reception

Environmental Law Pillar-Side Chat With Professor Herz
Cardozo Environmental Law Society
Monday, November 18 at 4 pm
Room 512

Please join us for a pillar-side chat and early supper with our resident expert on environmental law. Professor Herz will thrill us with tales of the heyday of environmental law success, and then ground us in the (unfortunate) reality we now face with a synopsis of the current state of affairs. Students will have a chance to ask all of their questions and voice their concerns. What career options are available? What can I do now? Is the Green New Deal the real deal, or is it just a squeaky wheel?

We'll laugh, we'll cry, we'll have Realtalk over pasta and a kale salad.
