The Folly of U.S. Sanctions against the International Criminal Court

February 3, 2021
12:00PM-1:30PM ET via Zoom

Since the inception of the International Criminal Court (ICC) in 1998, the United States has had both hostile and cooperative relations with the ICC. The outgoing U.S. administration took hostility to a new level, imposing legal sanctions on the Court's high-level officials in the same way the government imposes civil and criminal sanctions against those who provide material support to terrorists. This panel will explore the state of litigation challenging these sanctions, and how and why the incoming administration's approach to the ICC might differ from that of its predecessor.

This panel is co-sponsored by the International Humanitarian Law Committee of the American Branch of the International Law Association. CLE credit will be available pending approval. This panel will be held over zoom and a link will be sent out the morning of the event.

Panelists include:

Betsy Apple: Advocacy Director and Head of the Rule of Law Division, Open Society Justice Initiative

Andrew Loewenstein, Partner, Foley Hoag

Gabor Rona, Professor of Practice and Director of CLIHHR's Law and Armed Conflict Project, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Adam M. Smith, Partner, Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher

Beth Van Schaack, Leah Kaplan Visiting Professor of Human Rights, Stanford Law School
