The Folly of U.S. Sanctions against the International Criminal Court

February 3, 2021
12:00PM-1:30PM ET via Zoom

Since the inception of the International Criminal Court (ICC) in 1998, the United States has had both hostile and cooperative relations with the ICC. The outgoing U.S. administration took hostility to a new level, imposing legal sanctions on the Court's high-level officials in the same way the government imposes civil and criminal sanctions against those who provide material support to terrorists. This panel will explore the state of litigation challenging these sanctions, and how and why the incoming administration's approach to the ICC might differ from that of its predecessor.

This panel is co-sponsored by the International Humanitarian Law Committee of the American Branch of the International Law Association. CLE credit will be available pending approval. This panel will be held over zoom and a link will be sent out the morning of the event.

Panelists include:

Betsy Apple: Advocacy Director and Head of the Rule of Law Division, Open Society Justice Initiative

Andrew Loewenstein, Partner, Foley Hoag

Gabor Rona, Professor of Practice and Director of CLIHHR's Law and Armed Conflict Project, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Adam M. Smith, Partner, Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher

Beth Van Schaack, Leah Kaplan Visiting Professor of Human Rights, Stanford Law School

Bully. Coward. Victim. The Story of Roy Cohn

Monday, February 8 at 6:30 p.m.

Professor Barry Scheck, co founder and co director of The Innocence Project at Cardozo Law, discusses the documentary Bully. Coward. Victim. The Story of Roy Cohn with its director, Ivy Meeropol, and her father, Michael Meeropol. Particularly relevant given today's political climate, the conversation will address why now is the time to talk about Roy Cohn.

The documentary offers an unflinching look at the infamous attorney who prosecuted Ivy Meeropol's grandparents, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, and later argued persuasively for their execution in what became known as the "atomic spies" case.

The film examines Cohn's life as chief counsel to Senator Joseph McCarthy in the late 1950s and then through the 1980s when he became a darling of the Reagan White House, a rabid anti-homosexuality activist and political mentor to Donald J. Trump before dying from AIDS in 1986.

This FAME event is co-sponsored by the Filmmakers Legal Clinic and the Cardozo OUTlaw Alumni and Entertainment Law Society.

GameStop, Robinhood and Retail Investors: What's Going On In the Equity Markets?

Speaker: Professor Elizabeth Goldman, Cardozo School of Law

Date: Thursday, February 4, 2021

Time: 6:00 p.m.

Please join us for a Heyman Speaker Series event with Professor Elizabeth Goldman, Director of the Securities Arbitration Clinic at Cardozo! The recent surge in GameStop's stock price, fueled by trading by retail investors and famously tied to Reddit's WallStreetBets forum, has brought the U.S. equity markets into the spotlight. It has also led to many questions, including whether stock prices actually reflect the value of a company, the apparent inequality between how the markets work for hedge funds versus retail investors, the effect on other companies like AMC and BlackBerry, and the implications of Robinhood halting the purchase of these (and other) stocks on its platform. Join us for a discussion of these questions and more, including the potential legal challenges that may arise.

Zoom details are available on the registration page and will also be sent by email prior to the event. This event is open only to the Cardozo community.
