Intersectionality in International Criminal Law

November 9, 12:00 p.m. - 1:30 p.m.
via Zoom

The Cardozo International & Comparative Law Review is pleased to host a virtual symposium on intersectionality and how international criminal law can account for structural drivers of violence. Through critically questioning discriminatory systems and applications of the law, this symposium will analyze how the Rome Statute governs international criminal law, as exemplified by the International Criminal Court's rulings on enslavement.

Moderator:

- Cardozo Professor Ramya Kudekallu: Telford Taylor Human Rights Teaching Fellow of Clinical Law, and Chairperson of the New York City Bar International Human Rights Committee

Panelists:

- Alexandra Lily Kather: International Criminal Lawyer and Co-Founder of Emergent Justice Collective
- Nick Leddy: Head of Litigation at Legal Action Worldwide
- Priya Gopalan: International Criminal Lawyer and Member of the UN Working Group on Arbitrary Detention
