The Exam Software and Procedures Workshop

Monday, October 9th, and October 17th

Room 206

4:00 p.m.

The Exam Software & Procedures Workshops for the fall 2017 exam period will be presented by Kirsty Dymond, Director of Student Services. This is your opportunity to learn about the laptop exam software, see a demonstration of the software and ask questions about the exam process. This workshop is highly recommended for all new students taking an in-school exam. This will be the only exam software workshop for the spring 2017 semester. Students only need to attend one session.

Please note that all in-school multiple choice and T/F exams MUST be taken on a laptop computer.

Upcoming Events and Announcements

On October 16, 2017, from 6:00pm to 8:00pm at Cardozo School of Law Jacob Burns Moot Court Room; Cardozo School of Law Lobby, please join us:

One-Click Crimes: Sex Trafficking in the Age of the Internet sponsored by Students for Human Rights and Family Law Club, join our panelists for a discussion of the challenges faced by trafficking victims seeking justice but finding themselves on a collision course with judges, special interest groups, websites like Backpage.com, and laws intended to provide internet freedom.

The Howard M. Squadron Program in Law, Media, and Society presents:

Meet the Squadrons!

Interested in intellectual property, media, or entertainment law? On Monday, October 16 at 12:00 PM in room 423, come learn about the Squadron Fellowship program and how you can apply for the fellowship to fund your summer placement! Hear from recent Squadrons about the work they have done and how the Squadron Fellowship has helped them in their law school careers.

The Howard M. Squadron Program in Law, Media, and Society will award fellowships to students who participate in non-credit bearing international or domestic internships in media, publishing, communications, intellectual property, entertainment, Internet and similar legal fields. For example, past Squadron Fellowship recipients have worked at the Federal Communications Commission, SONY, VIACOM and CBS News, just to name a few.

With the assistance of the Squadron Program, fellowship recipients will be responsible for planning at least one presentation or event at Cardozo during the 2018-2019 academic year. We encourage anyone considering an internship in intellectual property, media, publishing, communications, Internet or entertainment law next summer to apply.

Pizza will be served.

The Cardozo Law Institute in Holocaust and Human Rights invites you to:
2017 Raphael Lemkin Book Award Ceremony

This year's selected winner is Benjamin Madley's 'An American Genocide: The United States and the California Indian Catastrophe' (Yale, 2016).

The ceremony will include a public talk with Professor Madley, as well as a discussion led by Professor Karl Jacoby of Columbia University's Department of History and Center for the Study of Ethnicity and Race.

The biennial award is for the best nonfiction work that focuses on explanations of genocide, crimes against humanity, state mass killings and gross violations of human rights, and strategies to prevent such crimes and violations. The award committee chose 'An American Genocide' for its meticulous and exhaustive research, theoretical sophistication, and focus on bringing to light an important case of genocide that has received little attention in research and broader public discourse.

Date: October 17th

Time: 5:00PM

Location: 3rd Floor Lounge
