TODAY AT CARDOZO

Monday, October 28, 2019

The Floersheimer Center for Constitutional Democracy invites you to:

Hate Speech, Fake News, and Post-Truth in the Age of Trump

Monday, October 28, 2019

9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Jacob Burns Moot Court Room & Lobby

How does the First Amendment really work? Is it a principle or a value? What is hate speech and should it always be banned? Should social media companies police the exchange of thoughts, ideas, and opinions? From the rise of fake news, to the role of tech companies, to demands for safe spaces and trigger warnings on campus-a new age has raised all new questions about first constitutional principles.

Join the Floersheimer Center for an exploration of First Amendment-protected speech in celebration of the publication of Professor Stanley Fish's latest book, The First.

Stanley Fish is the Floersheimer Distinguished Visiting Professor of Law at Cardozo School of Law and a New York Times bestselling author and columnist.

PLAW Planning Meeting

Monday, October 28th
Room 1008, 12pm

Be a part of the Public Interest Law Advocacy Week Student Planning team! P*LAW is a week-long series of inspiring workshops, panels, and projects (held from January 27 - 30, 2020) focused on lawyering and advocacy in the public sector.

Come and share your ideas and participate in organizing this great series of events!

We're Serving Pizza!

Antitrust Enforcement in the Law

We will be holding a panel that will be held on Monday, October 28th from 6pm to 8pm in Room 1008. The panel will consist of a Department of Justice, Antitrust Division attorney (Steven Tugander) and a New York Attorney's General Office, Antitrust Bureau attorney (Robert Hubbart). Our moderator will be our Faculty Advisor, Samuel Weinstein (who is a former DOJ antitrust attorney).

We are delighted to have these two panelists join us to discuss the basics, as well as the intricacies, of enforcing our nation's and this state's antitrust laws. Please bring both an appetite for learning and more generally just an appetite; food and drinks will be provided after the panel, and our panelists will be hanging around to get to know all of you.

Hope to see you there!

Title: Patent Issues in Artificial Intelligence. Your Chance to be Heard!

Date: October 28th, 2019

Location: Room 102

Sponsoring SBA group: IPLS

Please join Cardozo's Intellectual Property Law Society as we discuss the upcoming issues relating to the patentability of Artificial Intelligence technologies. The United States Patent and Trademark Office has requested comments from members of the patent community to help determine how patent examiners should best address patent applications on Artificial Intelligence technologies. Cardozo IPLS will be drafting a formal comment, based on our discussion during this event, to be submitted to the Patent Office on behalf of Cardozo students. This is your chance to shape the future of AI Patent Law!"

South Asian Law Student Association's Annual Diwali Celebration

Monday, October 28 at 6:00 PM

3rd Floor Lounge

SALSA would like to invite you to our hallmark event of the year - Diwali! This year, our Diwali event is on Monday, October 28th at 6:00pm in the Third Floor Lounge. We will have a henna station, diya painting station, DJ, Indian food, and open bar!

We are also looking for volunteers to help with set up and serving food. If you are available to help between 4:00PM and 8:00PM, please contact us!

The Heyman Center on Corporate Law & Governance invites you to a Heyman Lunch Speaker Series event:

A Pharmaceutical and FDA Regulatory Compliance Overview*

Speaker: Benjamin Zegarelli '13, Associate, Mintz

Date: Monday, October 28, 2019

Time: 12:00 pm
Location: Rm 205

Lunch will be provided.

Please join us for a lunch talk with Cardozo alumnus, Benjamin Zegarelli '13, Associate at Mintz! Mr. Zegarelli will discuss his role advising on compliance and regulatory issues for clients in the pharmaceutical, medical device, and biotech industries. His practice focuses on FDA regulatory counseling and includes advising health care industry clients on the federal and state laws surrounding manufacturer product development and marketing, representing medical device companies in responding to significant unfavorable inspection observations, and guiding companies with compliance issues through the development stage of action plans and implementing corrective actions. Mr. Zegarelli has also assisted in the process of developing policy positions and submitting comments to the FDA, as well as analyzing and drafting 510(k) applications for submission to the FDA.

*This event is part of the Compliance Speaker Series and will qualify towards the Compliance Concentration requirement.

This event is open only to the Cardozo community. If you register and can no longer attend, please let us know so that we have an accurate headcount for catering purposes.

Center for Rights & Justice Moot Court Session: Vega v. Semple
Tuesday, October 29 at 2 PM in the Fifth Floor Faculty Lounge

During this moot court session, John Boston (former director of the Legal Aid Society's Prisoners' Rights Project), Professor Anthony Moffa (University of Maine), and Cardozo Professors Kate Levine and Alex Reinert will serve as mock judges for Lori Welch-Rubin (Lori A. Welch LLC), an attorney who will be arguing an appeal in Vega v. Semple, a civil rights case in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. Vega involves the rights of people in prison not to be exposed to radon, a radioactive gas.

Lawyers use mootings sessions to prepare for oral arguments, and the Center for Rights and Justice regularly schedules these sessions in important civil rights cases. After the mock judges ask Ms. Welch-Rubin questions and provide feedback, some of them will remain in the Faculty Lounge to answer any questions you may have about the case and the issues.

By attending the moot, you agree to treat as confidential anything said during the session. If you are currently interning or working for the Attorney General's Office of the State of Connecticut, you unfortunately may not attend.

Please note that seating in the Faculty Lounge is limited, so if you are sure you want to attend this session, please arrive on time.

International Comparative Policy & Ethics Law Review Symposium: Extraterritoriality in the United States
Wednesday, November 13, 3pm-8pm
Moot Court Room

You are invited to join Cardozo's International Comparative Policy & Ethics Law Review for a Symposium on the status of extraterritoriality and the divergent circumstantial treatment that the Courts have given extraterritoriality in the United States. More specifically, there has been a trend that Courts are usually more comfortable applying United States law extraterritorially when issues of criminal law and national security are at stake, yet usually decide in the opposite direction when faced with the extraterritorial application of US civil law or human rights obligations. The symposium will be three panels, with the first two showcasing pending litigation in SCOTUS to illustrate this point, and the third will be a scholarly discussion of this phenomenon generally, followed by a reception.

Schedule

3-3:15 - check-in

3:15-4:15 - panel 1: Extraterritoriality in Criminal and Human Rights Law (Hernandez v Mesa)

4:30-5:30 - panel 2: Extraterritoriality in Securities Law (Scoville v SEC)

5:45-6:45 - panel 3: Theory of extraterritoriality

6:45-8:30 - reception
