The Heyman Center on Corporate Law & Governance invites you to a Heyman Lunch Speaker Series event:

A View from the Inside: The Role of an In-House M&A Attorney ***

Speaker: Joseph Tedeschi, Former General Counsel of M&A Legal, Citigroup

Date: Monday, March 2, 2020

Time: 12:00 pm

Location: Rm 205

Lunch will be provided.

Please join us for a lunch talk with Joseph Tedeschi, former General Counsel of M&A Legal at Citigroup! Mr. Tedeschi will discuss his experience of serving as in-house mergers & acquisitions (M&A) counsel, the unique challenges that arise in the financial services context, and the important role of compliance in this area. He will also describe some key differences between external M&A counsel and in-house M&A counsel and the importance of understanding the business side of deals.

Mr. Tedeschi is the former General Counsel for the Credit Cards & Payments division of Citigroup. Prior to that role, he served as General Counsel to Citi Holdings and General Counsel of M&A Legal. Mr. Tedeschi is engaged in a variety of non-profit activities and serves as a Board Member of Volunteer Lawyers for the Arts, and as the President and a Board Member of YYDC, Inc., a NY-based non-profit dance company. He is also on the Board of Advisors of Gray Eagle Capital Partners, a venture capital firm.

*This event is part of the Compliance Speaker Series and will qualify towards the Compliance Concentration requirement.

This event is open only to the Cardozo community. If you register and can no longer attend, please let us know so that we have an accurate headcount for catering purposes.

Upcoming Events and Announcements

The Jacob Burns Center for Ethics in the Practice of Law and the Heyman Center on Corporate Law & Governance present:

Rethinking Shareholder Primacy: Creating Corporate Ethical Imperatives

Date: Thursday, March 5, 2020

Time: 6:00 - 7:30 pm

Location: Moot Court Room

A light reception will follow the panel. Students interested in corporate law are encouraged to attend.

In recent years, the shareholder primacy model for corporate governance, which requires companies to maximize profit for shareholders, has faced increased scrutiny, and various solutions to fix what is perceived as a broken corporate culture have been proposed. Jamie Gamble, a former partner at Simpson Thacher, wrote a piece for Medium proposing a provocative solution - that corporations should implement shareholder-approved ethics rules in their bylaws, addressing the impact of actions on key stakeholders, the community in which the company operates, and the environment. This would potentially give shareholders standing to sue for the violation of these ethical rules.

The Burns and Heyman Centers will host a panel examining the existing shareholder primacy model and exploring potential solutions, including Gamble's proposal. The panel will also discuss how lawyers who advise directors about their fiduciary duties fit into this analysis and whether the implementation of these new solutions would lead to better outcomes.

Moderator

Jill Gautier, Executive Director, The Heyman Center on Corporate Law and Governance, Cardozo School of Law

Panelists

Jamie Gamble, Senior Counsel, Director of the Justice Index Project, National Center for Access to Justice; former Partner, Simpson Thacher

Andrew Gold, Professor of Law and Associate Director of the Center for the Study of Business Law and Regulation, Brooklyn Law School

Paul Washington, Executive Director, ESG Center, The Conference Board

NY CLE: Approved for 1.5 transitional/non-transitional New York State CLE credits in the category "Ethics & Professionalism".
