Mass Incarceration and Storytelling: Shifting the Narrative ft. Zealous
Hosted by Cardozo NLG

Wednesday, March 2 at 12:15 PM

Room 304

Pasta/Salad Lunch Will Be Provided

How can we, as law students, help shift the mainstream policies and perspectives on mass incarceration? Join us for an interactive multimedia training to reimagine what is possible. Using materials from Zealous—a national advocacy and education initiative working to remedy the imbalance of power over criminal justice media and policy—we will explore how to change the narrative on mass incarceration and center those with lived experiences.

This event is part of NLG's Week Against Mass Incarceration. Be sure to stop by our tables in the lobby to grab a snack and learn about how the housing crisis impacts mass incarceration!

How to Thrive In Law School-- Without -- Burning Out

Join the Office of Student Life for a talk with Lawyer and Life Coach Angela Han to discuss strategies on how to tackle the rigors of law school without burning out.
