Professor Deborah Pearlstein Appears on ABC News to Break Down Trump's Impeachment Trial

"The president has a higher duty than most Americans to take care that the law has been faithfully executed. This proceeding is not about depriving the President of his liberty or any property, it's simply about whether or not he deserves to hold the job or a job of public trust and that's quite a different question than that of the First Amendment," says Pearlstein.

Professor Chris Buccafusco's Letter Petitioning USPTO Featured in Law360, World IP Review

The letter argues for the extension of patent bar eligibility to design patent practitioners. Curtis and Buccafusco argued that the "exclusion of designers from the patent bar is unnecessary and inhibits diversity in the patent bar." Read Law360.
