

CARDOZO
Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

LARC @ Cardozo Law

Cardozo Law News Brief 2022

Cardozo Law News Brief

3-18-2022

Cardozo Law News Brief: March 18, 2022

Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Follow this and additional works at: <https://larc.cardozo.yu.edu/news-briefs-2022>

Part of the Law Commons

Recommended Citation

Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, "Cardozo Law News Brief: March 18, 2022" (2022). Cardozo Law News Brief 2022. 11.

<https://larc.cardozo.yu.edu/news-briefs-2022/11>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Cardozo Law News Brief at LARC @ Cardozo Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Cardozo Law News Brief 2022 by an authorized administrator of LARC @ Cardozo Law. For more information, please contact larc@yu.edu.

CARDOZO LAW

Cardozo Law News Brief

Spotlight on News from the Cardozo Community

Professor Christopher Buccafusco Comments in The Wall Street Journal on Katy Perry Copyright Lawsuit

“There is little to lose for lesser-known artists,” says Buccafusco. “Even if they don’t win a sum, the publicity around a lawsuit can drum up streams for their songs.”

Professor Jessica Roth Is a Guest on Bloomberg Law Podcast Discussing the Ghislaine Maxwell Trial

“It’s really going to come down to whether the judge found him credible and whether the judge believed his testimony that he was not intentionally withholding that information,” says Roth.

Professor Betsy Ginsberg Quoted About Prison Health Care on PBS NewsHour

“It’s a huge case and it covers an entire system. And it’s a system that has resisted reform of its medical practices for so many years,” Ginsberg says. “I don’t think Arizona is so unusual. I have never encountered a system that I thought did a good job.”

Professor Kate Shaw Comments on Judge Ketanji Brown Jackson to ABC

“Her being a graduate won't be a problem at all,” says Shaw. “If it were, there'd be several other recusals. But it might be prudent for her to resign from [Harvard's] board prior to joining the Supreme Court, which I think would resolve any conflict.”

William Ury Receives the 2022 International Advocate for Peace Award from Cardozo Journal of Conflict Resolution

“I feel profound gratitude to receive this beautiful award and a considerable dose of humility acknowledging the very painful and tragic wars that are raging as we speak in Ukraine, Yemen and Ethiopia,” says Ury. “It underscores the critical importance of dedicating ourselves even more deeply to the sacred cause of peace.”

Faculty Scholarship & News

- Professor Jocelyn Getgen Kestenbaum moderated a panel ""Lenapehoking: Missing & Murdered Indigenous Persons Crisis" at the Brooklyn Public Library on March 14.
- Ramya Jawahar Kudekallu's blog post on India's Forced Sterilization Practices was published on Volkerrechtsblog, an international law and legal thought blog.
- Professor Ngozi Okidegbe's paper "Of Afrofuturism, Of Algorithms" is forthcoming in Critical Analysis of Law. She will give a talk on March 23 at UNC Charlotte's Center for Professional & Applied Ethics as part of its series on Bias in AI.
- Professor Deborah Pearlstein was on the panel "Fighting for Democracy: Why Voting Rights Need to Be Protected Now" sponsored by the NYCLA on March 14.

Events

Click on the event title to register.

Women Lead the Law

A monthlong series of events in celebration of Women's History Month, sponsored by Cardozo Women, The FAME Center and the Cardozo Women's Law Initiative.

Prosecutors, the Attorney Disciplinary Process, and Publicity:

Should Grievances Against Prosecutors Remain Secret?

sponsored by the Jacob Burns Center for Ethics in the Practice of Law

Monday, March 21 at 4 p.m.

25 Years of Section 230: Retain, Reform or Repeal?

sponsored by The FAME Center and Cardozo Arts & Entertainment Law Journal

Thursday, March 31 at 3 p.m.

The Parthenon Marbles Case and the Universal Museum Myth:

Policies and Politics

sponsored by the Cardozo Arts & Entertainment Law Journal, The FAME Center and the Benjamin B. Ferencz Human Rights and Atrocity Prevention Clinic

Thursday, April 28 at 9:30 a.m.