Professor Jessica Roth Appears on CNN's AC360° to Discuss the Verdict in E. Jean Carroll's Case Against Donald Trump

“I think that the through-line through this trial was about the pattern, the consistency of what he had done to those two other women who came forward, with the account that E. Jean Carroll gave and also with what he said in the ‘Access Hollywood’ tape,” Roth said. She also appeared on the Bloomberg Law Podcast to discuss the verdict.

Professor Pamela Foohey Speaks to USA Today on Medical Bankruptcy and If It Can Help Pay Medical Bills

“It’s only a viable option when it’s your last option, which means it’s not really that viable,” Foohey said.

Professor Young Ran (Christine) Kim Quoted in Law360 on the Global Minimum Tax Deal

“We still need this 15% domestic minimum top-up tax rate to deal with the tax competition problem,” Kim said.

Professor Luís Calderón Gómez Quoted in TaxNotes Column About Private Placement Life Insurance (PPLI)

Calderón Gómez suggested that the easily satisfied diversification requirement be amended to exclude hedge fund and private equity fund investments.

Professor Michael Pollack Quoted in Reason on How a Federal Zoning Bill Would Impact Local Parking Mandates

“There is a deeply rooted sense at all levels of government that zoning and land use decision making is traditionally the province of local governments and ought to be the province of local governments,” Pollack said.
