COVID-19 Legal Impact Program (CLIP) - Session 5

Family Law/Trust & Estates

Friday, July 17th, 12 noon - 2:30 pm

Please join the Center for Public Service and the Heyman Center on Corporate Governance for our fifth session of Cardozo's COVID-19 Legal Impact Program (CLIP). CLIP will allow you to build skills, network with practicing attorneys, and immerse yourself in some of the legal community's most pressing issues, particularly in light of the pandemic. This program is offered at no cost to students, and you are welcome to participate as many of the sessions as you would like.

Our fifth session on Friday, July 17th, will be presented by three attorneys, two who practice in family law (one private sector and one public interest) and one who practices in estate planning (private sector): Lauren Hunt, Of Counsel at Young/Sommer LLC, Annie Carney, Staff Attorney,

Family Defense Practice at The Bronx Defenders and Mitchell Rutkin '03, Partner at Rutkin & Wolf PLLC. They have been navigating how to prepare and execute estate planning documents while social distancing, and navigating clients through divorce, child custody, visitation, and other family law issues throughout the pandemic and are excited to share their insights with you.

Click below to register for access to Cardozo's CLIP Canvas page. To participate in any of the CLIP sessions, you will need to register for our page on Canvas, which is where you can access all reading material, journal assignments, speaker information, and the Zoom login links.
