

CARDOZO

Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

LARC @ Cardozo Law

Cardozo Law News Brief 2019

Cardozo Law News Brief

6-13-2019

Cardozo Law News Brief: June 13, 2019

Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Follow this and additional works at: <https://larc.cardozo.yu.edu/news-briefs-2019>

Part of the Law Commons

Recommended Citation

Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, "Cardozo Law News Brief: June 13, 2019" (2019). Cardozo Law News Brief 2019. 20.

<https://larc.cardozo.yu.edu/news-briefs-2019/20>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Cardozo Law News Brief at LARC @ Cardozo Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Cardozo Law News Brief 2019 by an authorized administrator of LARC @ Cardozo Law. For more information, please contact larc@yu.edu.

CAMPUS NEWS

Professor Michelle Adams Publishes Book Review in Yale Law Journal

Professor Adams co-authored a book review for Justin Driver's The Schoolhouse Gate: Public Education, the Supreme Court and the Battle for the American Mind. The review explored the role of schools in constitutional law: "[Public school cases] go to the core of the nation's values. Yet constitutional law scholars have largely ignored education law as a distinct area of study and importance."

Professor Jocelyn Getgen Kestenbaum Emphasizes Importance of Clinics in U.S. News & World Report Article

Professor Jocelyn Getgen Kestenbaum, director of Cardozo's Human Rights and Atrocity Prevention Clinic, spoke with U.S. News & World Report about the importance of a good clinical experience in law school for aspiring human rights lawyers: "The first thing a human rights legal employer will look for on the resume of a law student or a recent grad is whether the person participated in a human rights law clinic...The competition is fierce for these kinds of jobs, so the clinical experiential piece of it is critical."

Professor Sam Weinstein talks to The Wall Street Journal about Sprint/T-Mobile's Merger

The U.S. Justice Department is now evaluating the Sprint/T-Mobile merger and Professor Sam Weinstein told The Wall Street Journal, "The case to win for the department is pretty stark from an antitrust point of view...it is a classic case where you want to sue to block."

In a second article, Professor Weinstein said, "In the event the Justice Department does sue, the states would likely join in, with the Justice Department leading the case."

Professor Deborah Pearlstein Authors Article in Harvard National Security Journal

Professor Deborah Pearlstein's article in the Spring 2019 edition of the Harvard National Security Journal, "Getting Past the Imperial Presidency," explores ideas about what Pearlstein calls "redesigning our approach to the empirical study of executive branch decision-making. And it suggests we may need to rethink what mechanisms may most effectively constrain the 'imperial presidency' in the years ahead."

Professor Kate Shaw's Interview with Justice Stevens Published on SCOTUSblog

Justice John Paul Stevens sat down with Professor Kate Shaw for a telephone interview, marking the recent publication of his memoir, "The Making of a Justice: Reflections on My First 94 Years."

EVENTS

New York State Bar Association Dispute Resolution Section
Commercial Arbitration Training

Monday, June 17-Wednesday, June 19, 2019