Cardozo Law Revue Activity Meeting: Join the Cast!

We are currently cooking up comic scenes and songs for the community's entertainment.
Now is the perfect time to join.

If you are interested (a) to show off a talent, (b) to join the cast for the Spring Semester, (c) to contribute writing, (d) to volunteer as crew, or (e) to just otherwise avert scholastic meltdown, join us for skit staging, singing, and improv.

Be a part of Cardozo's longstanding tradition, and most importantly, have fun!

Today at Room 423
7 pm

Food will be served.

We invite you to join us for our last General Body Meeting of the semester on Monday, April 1st at 12:45 PM in Room 423.

In addition to our usual programming, we will be introducing the application process for positions on next year's board. Lunch will be provided.

All are welcome and encouraged to come.

Thanks and can't wait to see you there!

30th Annual Uri and Caroline Bauer Memorial Lecture: Professor Zephyr Teachout

Cardozo Law Review is pleased to welcome Professor Zephyr Teachout to discuss her upcoming book, Break 'em Up. This lecture will explore the argument for a national anti-monopoly movement, and will include a discussion of how such a movement would affect the future of law.

Professor Teachout is an expert in the field of corruption law. Her book on the political and legal history of corruption in the United States, Corruption in America: From Benjamin Franklin's Snuff Box to Citizens United, is widely recognized as a groundbreaking analysis on the subject. Former Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens cited her anti-corruption research in his dissent in Citizens United.

Jacob Burns Moot Court Room
Tuesday, April 2nd at 6 p.m.

A reception with food and beverages to follow.

Let's Talk about the Boteros: Law, Memory, and the Torture Memos at Berkeley Law with Professor Laurel E. Fletcher

Wednesday, April 3, 12-1:15PM

Room 525

Lunch will be served

Please join CLIHHR as we welcome Professor Laurel E. Fletcher (Berkeley Law) for a thought-provoking and timely discussion on how institutions of higher learning confront symbols of their ties to slavery, colonialism, racism and other projects antithetical to their values. Professor Fletcher will discuss how Berkeley Law has reckoned with its association with the "Torture Memos" of the Bush Administration through one of their principal authors, Berkeley law professor John Yoo. The school acknowledges this link by exhibiting paintings by Fernando Botero of prisoner abuse by U.S. soldiers at Abu Ghraib. The paintings may soon be removed, raising the question that while schools are taking down symbols of injustice, what are the stakes involved in taking down symbols to confront injustice?

Laurel E. Fletcher is Clinical Professor of Law at UC Berkeley, School of Law where she directs the International Human Rights Law Clinic. Fletcher has advocated on behalf of victims before international courts and tribunals, and has issued numerous human rights reports on topics ranging from sexual violence in armed conflict to human rights violations of tipped workers in the US restaurant industry. She also has conducted several empirical human rights studies, including of the impact of detention on former detainees who were held in U.S. custody in Afghanistan and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. She served as co-Editor-in-Chief of the International Journal of Transitional Justice (2011-2015). Fletcher was selected as a Herbert Smith Freehills Visitor to the Faculty of Law in the University of Cambridge for 2019.

Pathways: A Conversation with Adam Amsterdam '85

Join Dean Melanie Leslie '91 for an in-depth interview with Adam Amsterdam '85.

Desserts and refreshments will be served!

Amsterdam has more than 30 years of experience in corporate law. He has handled commercial transactions, government relations matters and building business-focused legal teams. Amsterdam has worked with prominent New York and New Jersey firms including Stroock & Stroock & Lavan and ADP. He is currently the General Counsel for Broadridge Financial Solutions, where he handles all legal matters.

Amsterdam earned his J.D. from Cardozo, where he was an Associate Editor of the Cardozo Law Review.

The interview is the first in Dean Leslie's Pathways series, catching up on the career paths of Cardozo alumni.

This event is co-sponsored by the Office of Alumni Affairs, the Heyman Center on Corporate Governance and the Office of Student Services.

Controlling Foreign Investments: A Comparative Analysis

Speaker: Andrea Guaccero, Professor, Roma Tre

Date: Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Time: 12:30 pm

Location: 5th Floor Faculty Lounge

Lunch will be provided.

Please join us for a lunch talk with Professor Andrea Guaccero, from Roma Tre in Italy! Professor Guaccero's talk will focus on the different models of control of foreign direct investments as utilized by the US and the EU.

In a world where foreign direct investments are becoming more prominent in political debate, legal systems are implementing a new pervasive way to control them.

Professor Guaccero will analyze the Foreign Investment Risk Review Modernization Act of 2018 (FIRRMA) adopted by the US Congress, and the Regulation (EU) no. 2019/452 establishing a framework for the screening of foreign direct investments into the EU, adopted in 2019 by the European Parliament and the EU Council.

This event is open only to the Cardozo community. If you register and can no longer attend, please let us know so that we have an accurate headcount for catering purposes.

Please join the
Family Law Society for our first ever
MOVIE NIGHT on April 9 from 4-6 PM in
Room 407!

We will be serving yummy sandwiches & will be showing the award-winning
The Florida Project.

The Florida Project is a deeply moving and unforgettably poignant look at childhood. Set on a stretch of highway just outside the imagined utopia of Disney World, The Florida Project follows a six-year-old and her rebellious mother over the course of a single summer. The two live week to week at "The Magic Castle," a budget motel, whose stern exterior hides a deep reservoir of kindness and compassion. Despite her harsh surroundings, the precocious and ebullient six year old has no trouble making each day a celebration of life, her endless afternoons overflowing with mischief and grand adventure as she and her ragtag playmates fearlessly explore the utterly unique world into which they've been thrown. Unbeknownst to the child, however, her delicate fantasy is supported by the toil and sacrifice of her mother, who is forced to explore increasingly dangerous possibilities in order to provide for her daughter.

We are excited to see you all there!

Reality of the Gaza Strip Today and How It Got There
April 9th, 12:15 - 1:30pm in Room 205

Middle Eastern lunch will be served

Please join LDB for Human Rights, JLSA and the Federalist Society in hosting Colonel (Res.) Grisha Yakubovich for a unique insight on the Gaza Strip. Col. Yakubovich concluded his military service as head of the civil department for the Coordinator of Government Activities in the Territories (C.O.G.A.T.) in 2016, and currently serves as a policy and strategy consultant to non-governmental organizations and governmental agencies throughout the globe.

With over thirty years of first-hand experience initiating and executing cooperative efforts between Israelis and Palestinians amongst the highest levels of both the public and private sectors, Colonel Grisha Yakubovich's unique expertise has rapidly emerged as a highly-valuable perspective sought out by the international community on policy matters pertaining to the Israel-Palestinian dynamic.
