COVID-19 Legal Impact Program (CLIP) - Session 8

Vicarious/Secondary Trauma + Self-care

Friday, August 7th, 12 noon - 2:30 pm

Please join the Center for Public Service and the Heyman Center on Corporate Governance for our eighth and final session of Cardozo's COVID-19 Legal Impact Program (CLIP). CLIP will allow you to build skills, network with practicing attorneys, and immerse yourself in some of the legal community's most pressing issues, particularly in light of the pandemic. This program is offered at no cost to students, and you are welcome to participate as many of the sessions as you would like.

Our eighth session on Friday, August 7th, will focus on Vicarious/Secondary Trauma and Self-care, a topic of utmost importance in any area of practice that involves working with clients in crisis, and especially relevant in light of the pandemic. In addition, the self-care discussion will focus on crucial practices for maintaining peak performance and avoiding burnout. Our session will be led by three attorneys from The Legal Aid Society's Juvenile Rights Practice's Committee on Secondary Trauma Stress: Vicki Light, Brad Martin, and Linda Del Plato. We also invited CLIP's past presenters and discussion group leaders from our prior 7 sessions to join us again for this session to help lead our breakout discussion groups. We have loved sharing our Friday afternoons with everyone who has participated over the past 7 weeks, and we hope you will join us for our final session!

Click below to register for access to Cardozo's CLIP Canvas page. To participate in any of the CLIP sessions, you will need to register for our page on Canvas, which is where you can access all reading material, journal assignments, speaker information, and the Zoom login links.
