The Floersheimer Center invites you to: The Democratic Courthouse

In contrast to visions of judicial space as neutral, Oxford scholar Linda Mulcahy argues that the environment of the trial can be seen as a physical expression of our relationship with ideals of justice.

Join Professor Mulcahy, the Hon. Dennis G. Jacobs, Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, and former Cardozo Law Dean Professor Monroe Price for a discussion on legal architecture and "the democratic courthouse." Professor Price will act as moderator.

Professor Linda Mulcahy is the Professor of Socio-Legal Studies in the Faculty of Law at the University of Oxford, and the Director of the Centre for Socio-Legal Studies. She has degrees in law, legal theory, sociology and art history and her work has a strong interdisciplinary flavor.
