Future of Native American Mascots in Sports
September 15, 2020, at 6PM

This discussion will address the past, present, and future of Native American mascots in sports.

The recent announcement that Washington’s NFL team would drop its mascot is the culmination of years of efforts by activists and scholars to bring about a change. But the change only came once Washington’s corporate sponsors decided the time was right. This discussion will address the past, present, and future of Native American mascots in sports. It will draw on insights from Native American scholars, international human rights, and intellectual property law.

Panelists:

Natalie Welch: Professor Welch teaches Sports Marketing at Linfield University. She is a member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, and her research focuses on the positives of sport in Native communities and how Native communities can use sports as a path to success. Professor Welch specializes in Sports Management and has worked with the TIDES Institute on Racial and Gender Report Cards, Disney/ESPN Wide World of Sports, Nike's Native American N7 initiative, and Wieden+Kennedy. She also hosts the "Creative Native" podcast.

Jocelyn Getgen Kestenbaum: Professor Getgen Kestenbaum directs Cardozo's Benjamin B. Ferencz Human Rights and Atrocity Prevention Clinic and the Cardozo Law Institute in Holocaust and Human Rights (CLIHHR). Previously, she worked as program director of Virtue Foundation, a nonprofit implementing rights-based sustainable development projects in health, education, justice, and women's empowerment globally. Professor Getgen Kestenbaum also directs CLIHHR's Confronting Structural Violence: Law Teaching Guides Project which provides open access teaching guides that explore how U.S. law has perpetuated structural and identity-based violence. Additionally, she teaches an Indigenous Rights in the Americas course.

Christopher Buccafusco: Professor Buccafusco is the Director of Cardozo's Intellectual Property and Information Law Program as well as the Associate Dean for Faculty Development. His research covers a wide range of topics and methods related to creativity, innovation, and intellectual property law. Professor Buccafusco uses novel social science experiments to explore the nature of innovation markets, and he writes about evolving issues in copyright, patent, and trademark law, including music copyright litigation, pharmaceutical patents, and protection for industrial design.

Cardozo NLG's First General Body Meeting
Wednesday, September 16 @ 12pm ET/9AM PT

Description:

Calling all radical and progressive law students! Come learn about the oldest, most progressive, and first racially integrated bar association in America: The National Lawyers Guild. We will have a special introduction from NLG National President and Cardozo Alum, Elena Cohen. We will also be seeking 1L Reps at this meeting!

About Us: Cardozo NLG is a non-hierarchical chapter club that provides a place to critically challenge conservative thought in the law as well as advocate for progressive and equitable issues inside and outside of school. NLG also serves as a space to meet like-minded law school comrades. We are always looking for ways to make our community safer and fight for accountability. Come learn how you can be a part of NLG and shape our future actions and issues.

Some of What We've Done:

- Annual Week Against Mass Incarceration – speakers, panels, screenings.
 - NLG Legal Observer Training – Cop watch to protect 1st Amendment Rights
 - City Council letter writing campaign to stop the construction of 5 new Manhattan Jails; phone banking to representatives; poll worker signups
 - Cardozo-wide Petition for YU undergrad to recognize LGBTQ+ students' organizations, an ongoing issue!
 - Legal Issue Panels and Talks: ICE out of Courts; Environmental Rollbacks under Trump; Critical Readings of 1L doctrinal cases
 - NLG Happy Hours

Please join us for our first general body meeting to meet our executive board and to discuss upcoming events and programming!

Online Platform Liability 10 Years After Tiffany v. eBay

Wednesday, September 16 at 6:30 p.m.

Join the Fashion Law Society, the Intellectual Property Law Society, and the Alumni Association's Retail & Luxury Practice Group to celebrate the 10th anniversary of Tiffany v. eBay, a case that is one of trademark law's most significant decisions of the past decade. Ten years later, secondary liability for trademark infringement continues to be a point of tension between trademark owners and e-commerce platforms. This panel invites attorneys who represented both sides in the seminal case, as well as amicus brief writers, to revisit the decision and reflect on the development of the secondary liability doctrine over the past ten years. The panel concludes with a discussion of the recently proposed bi-partisan SHOP SAFE act legislation that aims to provide additional protection to trademark owners.

Panelists:

David Bernstein, Debevoise & Plimpton LLP

Megan Bannigan, Debevoise & Plimpton LLP

Randi Singer, Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP

Eleanor Lackman, Mitchell, Silberberg & Knupp LLP

Moderator: Lora Moffatt, Chanel

The FAME Center thanks The Cardozo Alumni Association's Retail & Luxury Practice Group for their sponsorship of this online event.

This online event is approved for 1 transitional/non-transitional New York State CLE credit in the category "Areas of Professional Practice." You must attend the "live" program to receive CLE credits. We cannot award CLE credits for watching a recorded version of this program.

The Zoom link and CLE materials will be distributed prior to the event.
