Cardozo Law Revue Activity Meeting: Join the Cast!

We are currently cooking up comic scenes and songs for the community's entertainment.
Now is the perfect time to join.

If you are interested (a) to show off a talent, (b) to join the cast for the Spring Semester, (c) to contribute writing, (d) to volunteer as crew, or (e) to just otherwise avert scholastic meltdown, join us for skit staging, singing, and improv.

Be a part of Cardozo's longstanding tradition, and most importantly, have fun!

Today at Room 423
7 pm

Food will be served.

"Visual Imagery & Human Rights:"
A Book Talk with former Cardozo Dean Monroe Price and Professor Sandra Ristovska

Tuesday, February 12th at 6PM
Room 1008

Sponsored by the Cardozo Law Institute in Holocaust and Human Rights Join former Cardozo Dean Monroe Price and his colleagues from the New York Times and the NGO "Witness" to discuss how new imagery developments are impacting human rights issues such as photography's effect on transitional justice, data collection through body cameras, and aerial photography in refugee camps.

Visual Imagery and Human Rights Practice examines the interplay between images and human rights, addressing how, when, and to what ends visuals are becoming a more central means through which human rights claims receive recognition and restitution. The collection argues that accounting for how images work on their own terms is an ever more important epistemological project for fostering the imaginative scope of human rights and its purchase on reality.

We are currently cooking up comic scenes and songs for the community's entertainment.
Now is the perfect time to join.

If you are interested (a) to show off a talent, (b) to join the cast for the Spring Semester, (c)

The Cardozo Intellectual Property and Information Law Program Presents James Boyle, William Neal Reynolds Professor of Law at Duke Law School, the 2019 Distinguished Lecturer in IP

"Is the Internet Over?! (Again?)"

In his talk, Prof. Boyle explores and evaluates predictions about the Internet from the 1990s, and where cyberspace is heading in the next 20 years.

James Boyle is the William Neal Reynolds Professor of Law at Duke Law School and founder of the Center for the Study of the Public Domain. His most recent books are Theft: A History of Music, a graphic novel about musical borrowing through history, and Intellectual Property: Law and the Information Society, both co-authored with Jennifer Jenkins. Professor Boyle was one of the founding Board Members of Creative Commons and of Science Commons and served on the board of the Public Library of Science. His work on digital civil liberties was honored with a Pioneer Award by The Electronic Frontier Foundation.

A reception will follow the presentation.
