The Future of Fashion

Monday, October 19th at 6:30pm

Please join the Cardozo School of Law's FAME Center and Fashion Law Society for a panel discussion with industry leaders about the future of the fashion industry.

COVID-19 has impacted all facets of the economy, and the fashion industry is no exception. Fashion and luxury-related consumer spending has plummeted, wreaking havoc on brands and retailers. The brands staying afloat are pivoting their efforts to accommodate the remotely working consumer looking to make sustainable fashion choices. While some companies struggle to adjust, the rental and resale market has become more popular than ever. This panel discusses how the crisis was the catalyst that shocked the fashion industry to change, and what the future of fashion could look like post-pandemic.

Grace Han Stanton, Partner, Perkins Coie

Karen Katz, Former CEO, Neiman Marcus Group

Rick Perkal, CEO and Managing Partner, Firelight Capital Partners LLC

Cara Schembri, General Counsel, Rent the Runway

Julie Zerbo, Founder and Editor-and-Chief, The Fashion Law

TikTok: The Clock's Ticking on the App That's Changing the Music Industry

Wednesday, October 21 at 6:30pm

Please join Cardozo School of Law's Entertainment Law Society and FAME Center in welcoming music industry lawyers on both the artist and label sides, as well as copyright and privacy law professors to discuss the impacts of the popularization of TikTok on artist development, music licensing, and copyright law. In talking about the ripple effects of the international success of the app, we will discuss American corporation Oracle's potential new stake in the company (and how the app has likely avoided being banned in the US) and what it means for the music business as a whole. There will be a Question & Answer Segment following the panel discussion.

PANELISTS:

Kristelia Garcia - Associate Professor at The University of Colorado Law School

Jeff Becker - Partner at Swanson, Martin & Bell, LLP

Greg Norman - Vice President of Business & Legal Affairs at Sony Music Entertainment

Felix Wu - Professor of Law at The Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

This online event is approved for 1.0 transitional/non-transitional New York State CLE credit in the category "Areas of Professional Practice." You must attend the "live" program in order to receive CLE credits. We cannot award CLE credits for watching a recorded version of this program.

Hi All,

We are excited to announce that our first event will be held on October 18th, 2020 from 6-7 PM.

Coss Marte, founder and CEO of CONBODY will be joining us for a zoom event where he will be discussing his journey and his business.

Just a brief summary about Coss Marte. He was formerly incarcerated and while in prison, he created a bootcamp fitness program that helped him lose over 70 pounds. When he was released from prison, Coss turned his workout method into a career and is now the Founder and CEO of CONBODY. Understanding first-hand the struggles that formerly incarcerated individuals face, Coss Marte hires formerly incarcerated individuals as trainers. CONBODY also partners with non-profit organizations to provide educational, housing, employment, and mentorship resources to former inmates.

Coss has an incredible story and we are really fortunate that he has agreed to do this event with us. Coss will be discussing his experiences and how they have helped shape his success. We are also looking to do a brief Q&A towards the end of the event, so if anyone would like to ask Coss any questions, you may send them directly to this email or in the chat box during the event.

Registration is now open and you can get your tickets at the link below.

This event is open to everyone, not just Cardozo students, so if you have friends/family that you think may be interested in this event, feel free to invite them. We look forward to seeing you all there.

Best,
