Sustainable Cooking Demonstration

Presented by: Cardozo Environmental Law Society

Wednesday, November 4 at 12:00 pm

Club member and certified chef Ryan Meer will be discussing the environmental benefits of eating vegan while showing us how to make Shakshuka. Shakshuka is an age old middle eastern recipe that everyone claims they invented first. Fit for any meal of the day, this comforting dish consists of eggs poached in a tomato base. Beyond that you're free to go wild! We'll be going for a fun new take incorporating the French style of trompe l'oeil. They'll look like oeufs; they'll taste like oeufs; doesn't matter if they're oeufs because we'll have fresh baked bread, tomatoes galore, and seaweed! Seaweed?! What kind of science fiction mockery will Chef Ryan make of one Israel's most beloved breakfasts? Come find out!
