Follow the Law, Break the Mold: An Interview with Sarah Feingold, Etsy's First General Counsel
Thursday, December 2 at 6:30 p.m.

Please join the FAME Center and the Cardozo Women Alumni Group for the last FAME event of the semester. Cardozo alumna, Carrie Maylor DiCanio '08, Managing Shareholder of Anderson Kill's Denver office, will moderate a virtual discussion with trailblazer Sarah Feingold.

Born an artist, Feingold decided the best way to protect creative folks like herself was to go to law school. She then cannonballed into the position of Etsy's first attorney and 17th employee. For over nine years Feingold helped Etsy scale from an inconspicuous startup to a publicly traded company. After that, she joined Vroom as its first General Counsel. In 2018, the New York Law Journal awarded Feingold with the GC Impact Award.

Feingold is still making waves, and helping others follow suit, as the creator / writer of the play, Dirty Legal Secrets (formerly known as Legal Madness), the co-founder of The Fourth Floor, and a Fellow of NYU Law School.

You can also find Feingold speaking, advising, eating candy, hammering silver, and chasing her child.

There will be a networking opportunity and chance to speak with Feingold after the presentation.

This event is sponsored by the Cardozo Women Alumni Group.

Virtual Book Talk with Professor Carissa Byrne Hessick on Punishment Without Trial: Why Plea Bargaining Is A Bad Deal

Thursday, Dec. 2, 2021

4:30 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.

This is a Zoom Webinar, but Cardozo community members on campus at that time are welcome to join us in Room 512 for coffee, tea, & snacks and to watch the webinar together.

1.0 NY State CLE credit in Ethics available

Professor Byrne Hessick will discuss her latest work in conversation with Cardozo Law criminal law Professor Jessica Roth.

When Americans think of the criminal justice system, they picture a trial. The right to a trial by jury is supposed to undergird our entire justice system - but that bedrock constitutional right has all but disappeared thanks to plea bargaining. In 2018, more than 97 percent of defendants pleaded guilty. In Punishment Without Trial: Why Plea Bargaining Is A Bad Deal, Professor Byrne Hessick makes the case against plea bargaining and illustrates why we need to fix it if we ever hope to achieve lasting criminal justice reform.

Carissa Byrne Hessick is the Ransdell Distinguished Professor of Law at the University of North Carolina School of Law, where she also serves as the director of the Prosecutors and Politics Project. Her work on the criminal justice system has been published by the Los Angeles Times, the Philadelphia Inquirer, Slate, and numerous academic journals. She has an informative and useful Twitter account for anyone interested in criminal justice.
