VALEDICTORIAN SHELLEY ATTADGIE '19 RECOGNIZED WITH FELIX FRANKFURTER AWARD

August 14, 2019

Shelley Attadgie '19 is the 2019 recipient of Cardozo's Felix Frankfurter Award. This award is presented to a J.D. graduate who exercises outstanding academic achievement, maturity, responsibility, diligence and judgment.

Attadgie was chosen for her excellence in every facet of academics and for her service to the Cardozo community. She was recognized not only for her own stellar academic performance, but also for her contributions and assistance to faculty members in connection with their scholarship. She served as a teaching assistant in Contracts, Torts and Constitutional Law, and also as a mentor and guide to her peers. She worked in the Admissions Office, guiding and assisting future Cardozo students. She also served the larger community through her exemplary work in the Innocence Project, and helped play a role in exonerating those who were unjustly incarcerated.

Dean Melanie Leslie presented Attadgie with the award at Cardozo's 2019 Commencement noting, "Shelley, you are truly a role model, a thinker, a doer and an inspiration and are very much deserving of this award."
