Changing the Way We See

Modern Policing: Reform or Abolition?

Thursday, November 12, 2020

6 p.m.

The panel will include insight from activists, academics, and lawyers on the police reform and abolition movements. Panelists will discuss the different perspectives within the movements and explain what must occur to meet those goals, whether it be complete abolition or reform. Panelists will also focus on how these approaches will impact access to justice and diminish racial bias.

Moderator: Professor Kathryn Miller, Clinical Assistant Professor of Law, Criminal Defense Clinic, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Keynote Speaker: Marbre Stahly-Butts, Executive Director of Law for Black Lives

Panelists:

Mecole Jordan-McBride, Advocacy Director for Policing Project at NYU School of Law

Professor Kate Levine, Associate Professor of Law, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

Benjamin B. Tucker, First Deputy Commissioner, New York City Police Department

Kumar Rao, Senior Director of Strategy & Policy, New York Working Families Party
